Japanese Drink Law
Turkey—Good Bargainer
The Lady Took Fluffy
Balfour's Title
By Arthur Brisbane
Copyright, 1922, by Star Co.
For the first time in history
Japan passes a law regulating the sale of intoxicating drink.
It forbids selling to minors.
Failure to pass such laws hitherto
has not been based on indifference,
but on timidity.
Drunkardism doesn't bother the Japanese. In Japan, also, you hear nothing of societies for the prevention of cruelty to children.
The good reason is that in Japan
nobody is cruel to children.
Raise your arm above a Japanese child as though threatening to strike, and the child will laugh. It never heard of a child being struck. Unfortunately, you cannot say the same of the United States. Raise your hand to a child here and it knows too
well what it means.
The nations have offered Turkey travels to power in Constantinople, a good idea of Thrace, all Asia Minor. Now
Turkey, after the fashion of traders
in their barter, will sit down and bargain. They are patient bargainers. They would like a little more, please. In one way they set a good example to their disrespectful brethren, the people of Ireland. The different Turkish factions get together, forgetting their own troubles to see how much they can get for Turkey.
Too bad for Ireland's future that her people cannot do the same.

In Philadelphia an actress,
forty, scolds a gentleman aged thirty-seven. They also vanished, taking her pet poodle, named Fluffy, age uncertain.
The shooting of gentlemen by ladies is so common—almost as common as handiwork—that no one notifies it. Only Fluffy, the poodle, makes this an unusual case. When they find the lady, the dog eloped in her arms
will figure in the trial, of course,
and presumably in the acquittal.
Juries appear to believe that when a lady shoots a gentleman
she has good reasons of her own,
and they are usually right.

Balfour is to be made a Lord.
Foes of the robin, after all, because the King wishes it. The peerage cannot add anything to Balfour's reputation. His name will add considerably to the peerage.
When a man is really big, a title makes him smaller. Gladstone, Carlyle, stand out as names without any handle.
What title would you suggest for Balfour Duke of Washington might do.

The "Siamese twins," Jemima and Anna, are dead. One might possibly have been saved—it was doubtful at best—by a surgical operation. But her brother would not consent, and his consent was legally necessary. Sixteen surgeons advised the operation, but the brother said no, not even if his sister died. The law has not prepared for Siamese twins,
and the brother had his way.
He may change his mind for the funeral. Undertakers also do not prepare for Siamese twins,
and there an operation may be necessary.

The eleven-year-old son of one of the unfortunate women
kneelt at his mother's bedside praying as the two sisters fastened together in death, lay side by side. Such a condition and such an affliction would seem to need considerable explaining.

In 1921 the churches of the United States gained 761,727
members. In 1920 the churches lost 1,024. It is difficult for to observe that in boom times,
when money is plentiful, attendance falls off at churches and at night schools. When harder times come back churches and night schools increase their membership. Poverty makes men thoughtful, thought makes men want education and religion.

Mr. Lewis is indignant because he was not allowed to give a school building to deliver a lecture showing that the Bible was the basis of civilization. He gradually civilized them, and did more for education than any single religion had done.

COURT ORDERS MAN TO SUPPORT OLD MOTHER

Larry M. Nichols, thirty-two years of age, a railroad fireman, residing on Oliver street, East Somerville, was found guilty in the Somerville District Court of failing to support his mother, Mrs. Letitia Nichols, seventy-seven years, a native of Ireland, who had been confined in a private hospital at Boston for a number of years, and was placed in the care of one of the city's poor houses. The court ordered Nichols to support his mother.

O'Neil, district attorney of New York and a number of other officials in the Boston business and social world. March's desire to depart like a lion with the snow. The weather man says there will be more or less snow until tomorrow morning. It will be fair, but cold. Sunday also will be fair, but cold. Fresh From Paris Latest From Marie Suzanne

Paris, France. A GRACEFUL, two-tiered cape, suitable for ultra sporting events, is of camel-colored jersey de soie, and reaches to the hem of the skirt worn beneath it. It is without an opening of any sort for the arms and is fringed at the waistline and hem with self-toned fringe so coarse as to give the effect of rows of tassels one after another.

THE Bodice yellow wool fabric used for the coat of a sports suit is woven with a black stripe to vary its collar and skirt. The coat uses the turned-back collar and long straight sleeves, and blouses at the normal waistline. Yellow in all its values is particularly well liked for this season, appearing in fabrics, trimmings and accessories.

HOLLIS DIVORCE LEGAL, SAYS BULGARIAN

Minister to U. S. Says Ex-Senator Cannot Meet Conditions Demanded

The legality of the divorce obtained in Bulgaria by former Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire was again brought into question today when a statement was made publicly from the Bulgarian minister at Washington, declaring that the laws of the country required personal service in all divorce cases. The minister, Stephen Panaretoff, said further that divorce in Bulgaria is not granted as a general thing but only for major causes and not for incompatibility.

He stated he expects to be served in such suits ready. If a woman in Bulgaria desires to divorce a husband who is in the United States, the papers are forwarded to the Bulgarian Embassy here, which must serve them on the defendant before action can be taken in the divorce suit.

NO VOICE TO WIFE.

The first Mrs. Hollis, now living in New Jersey, has maintained from the first that she was never served with notice of any kind in the suit. Her attorney, however, has maintained before action can be taken in the divorce suit.

Minister Panaretoff also declared that Hollis could not sue for divorce in Bulgaria because he was divorced there by an American court.

There is no way in which Senator Hollis could have prevented a divorce in Bulgaria or in any other part of Europe, and I cannot understand his claim to have been divorced there," he said.

"I understand Senator Hollis has been an enthusiastic supporter of the Catholic Church in this country. That could not be, for all divorce cases are granted by the Catholic Church only to its communicants who have been married in this country. I am not sure that Senator Hollis was so married in his first marriage."

OWEN POSTIVE.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who married Hollis' second marriage in Rome recently, reiterated in Washington that he had seen the divorce papers.

"It was an ecclesiastical divorce. I saw papers which had been duly signed by no other authority than the Greek Catholic Church. Recently a national council of the church was held, and the question came before the Synod as to whether civil divorce cases before the church were valid. It was decided definitely, by vote, that they could not."

Kansas Miners to Go Out, Despite Court

Indianapolis, March 31.—Regardless of the order of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations, extending for thirty days the present wage scale in the Kansas coal fields, miners of that district will drop their tools at midnight and strike with the rest of the nation's miners, John H. Brown, president of the United Mine Workers, declared today.

The union chief told the International News Service that, as the order is understood, it applies to the operators and, even if it included the miners, union does not recognize the right of the court to compel men to work.

5 CARS PLUNGE 20 FEET INTO OLD CANAL

Many Passengers Sleep
Through Pennsylvania
Wreck; Four Are Hurt

Hartford, Pa., March 31.—Five cars of the Denison Express on the Pennsylvania Railroad slid down a 20 foot embankment into the old Pennsylvania Canal at Hartford early this morning. The train was bound from Buffalo to Washington. Four were injured.

The wreck occurred at 1:47 o'clock this morning and was caused by a broken rail. The second car from the engine, a day coach, jumped the track and rolled over its side. Pullman cars, which pulled into the deep mud on the 20-foot embankment and went down into the old canal bed without stopping. The seventh car hung to the side and held the chain of cars in position. There were many passengers on the train and many of them were asleep in their berths and did not know what had happened, some said.

Scollay Square-Ferry Line to Have 5-Cent Fare

Boston will have another five-cent fare line beginning tomorrow. In Hanover street between the Battery street station and Scollay square, a five-cent transfer fare will be a nickel.

The Boston Elevated management may announce it as an experiment.

Passengers paying 10 cents may transfer at the Battery street station, at Washington and Hanover streets, and at Scollay square. Transfer checks will continue to be acceptable.

A lawsuit on the passengers who were brought to Hartford showed four persons had been slightly injured or hurt. They were J. H. Rice, 124 Green street, Hull; Henry W. Coffey, American Federation of Labor Building, Washington; J. W. W. Russell, East street, and J. H. Smith, Atlantic City.

Some of the passengers had to be rescued from the wreckage of the cars, as the cars were so deep in mud that they could not be moved.

The passengers were transported to a later train and brought to the city.

Says a Fat Man Doesn't Necessarily Have a Swelled Head Just Because He Puts On a Big Front

It is a well-known fact that fat men are jolly and easy to get along with. They've got to be, in case of trouble they'd have a hard job getting along.

A fat man is no different from a thin man. The time came just to see if he could do it.

He wanted the contest held at 10 o'clock, so he'd be through in time to go to bed. He was a fat man, but he was a good man.

He told them to keep the lights out from underneath his feet. He thought a hippopotamus for a fat man.

SMALLER NAVY FRIENDS SHOW IGNORANCE

Amazing Lack of Knowledge Displayed by Peace Leaders in Congress

By W. E. LAM HARRIS
Copyright, 1922, by Cosmopolitan News Service.

Washington, March 31.—Some of the most memorable remarks that have been made in Washington since the great day when the limitation of armaments conference had been set by the American navy policy, as announced by the House of Representatives, were made by the House of Representatives.

If these remarks are thoughtfully considered, they will fully explain why Britain is willing to have more better fleet than ours and why Japan is going to have a fleet as good as ours if the present members of the American navy policy are permitted to have their way and to work their will.

NOT THINKING OF WAR.

Secretary Dinkley was telling Mr. Butler that he wanted more navy in the fleet. The scene of this conversation was a meeting of Mr. Butler's naval affairs committee. Mr. Butler inquired: "Why do you want more navy?"

Mr. Butler replied: "In time of war we would be a vital necessity to the fleet."

Thereupon Mr. Butler made the following amusing rejoinder:

"My mind is not thinking of war. Mr. Butler is in charge of the committee which for the House of Representatives, in charge of the organization of the fleet, and he is not thinking of war. He is thinking of the limitation of armaments conference established peace. He sees no need of any fleet at all during peace. It is only at the outbreak of war Mr. Butler will produce a fleet out of his pocket."

There is similarity no need of battleships or cruisers or destroyers or submarines during peace. There is no need of any fleet at all during peace. It is only at the outbreak of war Mr. Butler will produce a fleet out of his pocket.

In the first place, Mr. Butler seems to have been in the habit of finding out what a fleet is. At a later meeting of his committee, he was discussing the ship called scout cruisers. The American fleet has no modern scout cruisers. The British fleet has about sixty-nine of them. The Japanese fleet has quite a few. We are now building ten of them, and we shall get three of them completed pretty soon. Mr. Butler inquired:

"They are not fighting ships, these scout cruisers?"

It is to be presumed that Mr. Butler has heard of the battle of Jutland. It might have been presumed that Mr. Butler, as chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee of the American House of Representatives, would have studied the published official accounts of the battle of Jutland.

In the battle of Jutland the scout cruisers did the most fighting and fought from time to time and from point to point throughout the whole of the main part of the battle and then finally did the last fighting. And after that record made by them in the one classic naval battle of our age, Mr. Butler, chairman of the naval affairs committee of the House of Representatives of the United States, inquires: "They are not fighting ships, these scout cruisers?"

That is one reason why Mr. Butler has reported a bill which will not only reduce the number but wreck the morale of the personnel of the American navy. The other reason is that along with millions upon millions of his American fellow citizens he believes things about the limitation of armaments conference which the government of Britain and the government of Japan do not for one moment believe.

The four-power treaty, which is the peace treaty of the limitation of armaments conference, does not bind any nation to refrain from going to war. It binds them to confer. It does not bind them after conference to remain at peace. And Mr. Underwood, of the floor of the Senate, pressed by the opponents of the treaty, said frankly and most properly: "That in case any power signatory to the four-power treaty went to war with any other power signatory to the four-power treaty the treaty would be inoperative. The treaty forbids war except after talk. It does not forbid war. Nor does it say how long the talk shall be."

In these circumstances the British are putting 14,000 men on their fleet, and the Japanese are putting 14,000 men on theirs while we are contented with the possibility of getting 50,000 for years. But Mr. Butler would object to the word "years."

Lisbon-South America Flies End First Leg of Trip

Lisbon, March 31.—The Portuguese seaplane which left Lisbon in an attempt to fly to South America, completed in safety the first leg of the journey on schedule. Cable dispatches announce that the plane arrived safely at Las Palmas, in the Canary Islands.

The short "all's well" message received from the fliers indicates that the last leg of the trip will be started today.

LYDIG SAYS HE NEVER MET MRS. STOKES

Issues Absolute Denial of Charge That He Was Friendly With Millionaire's Wife

By Associated Press.

New York, March 31.—Philip M. Lydig has issued a denial of allegations made by Mrs. W. E. L. Stokes, millionaire hotel man, in a letter to Mrs. Philip Lydig to the effect that he (Lydig) had been friendly with Mrs. Helen Evelyn Stokes.

Lydig is now in Europe, and his statement was issued through his attorneys here. "I have never been acquainted with the present Mrs. Stokes," the denial reads. "Furthermore, I have never met W. E. Stokes."

Samuel Underover, attorney for Mrs. Stokes in her suit against the hotel man for the restoration of her dowry rights, read the letter containing the charges in court Tuesday.

Mrs. Lydig was married to Lydig after she had divorced Stokes, her first husband. She subsequently divorced Lydig.

FAMOUS DANCER WARS ON GIRLS' BARE KNEES

"FUZZY WUZ" READY FOR THE EASTER PARADE! Billy Byrd West, charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. West of Washington, D. C., declared by experts to be the most beautiful baby in the capital.

WILD AND WOOLLY! This famous ram, a South Australian stud Merino, was recently sold for approximately $10,000, a record price for a wool bearer. Do you think he was wool worth the price? (International News Reel)

SKIRTING THE SUBJECT! Ladies will longer longer if Paris has her say, at least as far as skirts are concerned. This model was copied from a French dress fashioned of lemon yellow voile with giraffe of white organdy. The lace and hem-stitching adds to its charm. An advertisement. (Underwood)

A COOL PROPOSITION! Capt. Roald Amundsen, noted Arctic explorer, now in New York making preparations for his forthcoming trip into the ice realm. (Underwood)

JOCKEYING ABOUT! To "cabbages and kings" we can now add "princes and peasants." Prince Henry, third son of the British King and Queen, rode a horse, Ocean, 3rd, and lost the Litchborough Steeplechase.

BENEATH the Senators, But They Will Ride On! The underground line runs from the Senate office building to the Capitol and is used mostly during stormy weather. The chap in the center controls it. (International News Reel)

A LITTLE SHOT! Master Richard L. Beck of Bridgeport, Ct., is again the juvenile rifle champion of the country. For three years straight he has annexed the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps title. Made a perfect score this year. (Ludlams)

BOWLING 'EM OVER! The Spinella Brothers—Barney, right, and Christ—winners of New York—who set a new world record in bowling for a double team with 1,336 pins. The tournament has just closed at Toledo, O. Barney holds world record for all events. (Underwood)

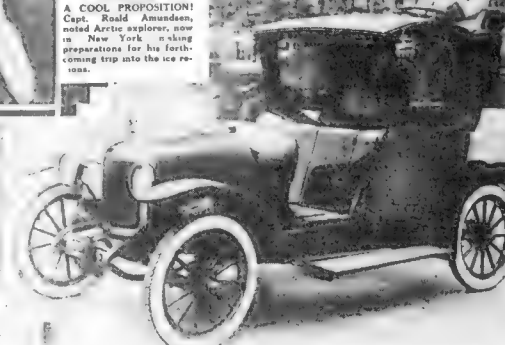

PLAYFUL! Franchellina Dunn, when she sailed from New York for France the other day, took with her the smallest player-piano in existence. This little instrument plays a piano roll which measures a little less than an inch in length. (Underwood)

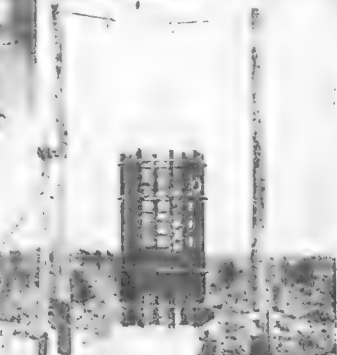

HERE'S THE CHAP Who Radiates Answers About Radio Problems! William D. Terrell is Uncle Sam's chief radio inspector at the Department of Commerce, and with the growing popularity of radio for pleasure and business he has been deluged with questions about the "new science." He believes in practicing what he preaches, so he sends out many of his answers to problems by radio. (Underwood)

GALOSH! Rolled stockings are making American girls still legged, ungartered, and rheumatic, says Andreas Pavier, famous dancing teacher. Miss Maria Milar, above, one of his pupils, attributes her perfect figure to refusing to wear rolled stockings. (International News Reel)

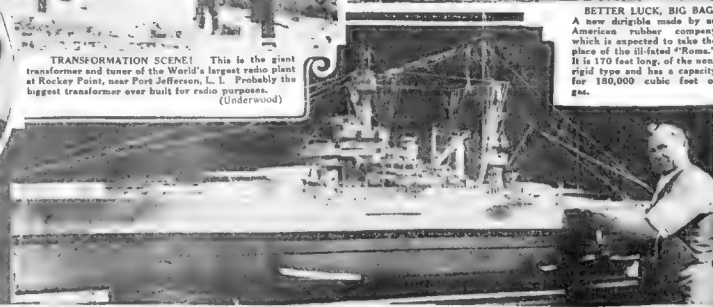

NOT SUPERCILIOUS, But He Looks Down On Everybody! This handsome motor cab, a Paris invention, has created quite a stir in France. The steering of the vehicle is controlled from the elevated rear seat. (International News Reel)

TRANSFORMATION SCENE! This is the giant transformer and tuner of the World's largest radio plant at Rocky Point, near Fort Jefferson, L. I. Probably the biggest transformer ever built for radio purposes. (Underwood)

BETTER LUCK, BIG BAG! A new dirigible made by an American rubber company which is expected to take the place of the ill-fated "Rosa." It is 170 feet long, of the non-rigid type and has a capacity for 180,000 cubic feet of gas.

TODAY'S LESSON! To John Fitch of Connecticut must be given credit for the first steamboat in America, imperfect as it was. He made his first trial trip on Aug. 22, 1787, but was not able to attain more than 2 miles an hour. The boat was propelled by 12 oars or paddles, which were operated by steam. On Aug. 17, 1807, Robert Fulton started with his sidewheel "Clermont" on its famous trial trip from New York to Albany. This is interesting data to compare with this 15-foot model of the U. S. S. California, flagship of the Pacific Fleet, and the last word in steamcraft construction. It was made by C. V. Overman of San Francisco, and will be sent to Washington, D. C., when completed. Here's Comfort As Well As Style

There's a noticeable tendency toward easier fitting clothes this season. Even the most extreme models for young men can be put on without the aid of a shoe horn. We believe most men will welcome this tendency toward greater freedom, especially since it does not detract in the slightest from faultless fit and smart appearance. As to models and patterns, we can't recall a season when they were more attractive or suited to such a diversity of tastes. Select yours now before the Easter rush is on.

Cast your eye over this stock of

Kuppenheimer Suits

Everyone looks to the Kuppenheimer line for authoritative information on men's styles. But what's equally important is the fact that Kuppenheimer style is lasting style, made permanent by the high quality of fabrics and tailoring. That's why a Kuppenheimer Suit is such a good investment. It lasts longer and looks better while it lasts and costs least per day of service.

GIRL ADMITS EYES CAUSED AUTO WRECK

Says in $50,000 Suit That Driver Looked in Them, Not at the Road

NEW YORK, March 30.—A girl who says she was the cause of a $50,000 auto wreck, admitted today in court that she looked at the driver of the car which struck her, instead of looking at the road.

The girl, who is 19 years old, is the daughter of a wealthy family. She was driving a car when it struck a car driven by a man who was killed. The girl's lawyer says she was looking at the driver of the other car at the time of the accident.

The case is being tried in New York City. The girl's father is offering a $50,000 settlement to the family of the man who was killed.

How much less does it cost to build today than it did when prices were sky-high?

Are building costs likely to go lower or higher in the near future?

Little wonder building came to a standstill when you learn that it cost 2½ times as much to build a house in 1920 as it cost in 1914. The same house, however, could be built today for less than three-quarters more than it cost before the war.

Expressed differently, a two-story frame house which cost but $5,229 in 1914, would cost $12,815 in 1920, whereas it could be built now for $7,300. The following careful compilation is for a seven-room, two-story frame house, 20x24 feet.

	1914	(Peak)	1920	1922
Foundation and basement	250	250	250	250
Frame	1,500	1,500	1,500	1,500
Roofing	100	100	100	100
Plumbing	150	150	150	150
Electricity	100	100	100	100
Interior finish	1,000	1,000	1,000	1,000
Exterior finish	500	500	500	500
Land	100	100	100	100
Cost per cubic foot	1.50	1.50	1.50	1.50
Cost per square foot	1.50	1.50	1.50	1.50

A similar tabulation brings out that a two-story Colonial house costing $4,175 in 1914, went to $9,767 when prices were at the top, but could now be built for $7,274. The maximum advance figures out at 133 per cent, and the advance today at 76 per cent over 1914.

In both these instances there has been a decline of 26 per cent, from the 1920 peak.

Now about the outlook as to building costs?

The figures here given are from a comprehensive, thoughtful study of the whole subject, issued by the Chemical National Bank of New York, and as to the future of prices it says:

"General wholesale prices, as measured by the index number of the U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics, seem to be stabilized at a level about 50 per cent above that of the pre-war period. Building costs are about this level, and the price of the elements which bulk largely in building costs, such as freight rates, at present rates, are not expected to downward revision than are commodity prices generally.

"The general building shortage and the increasing volume of building at present levels are factors which serve to strengthen building material prices. With no other factors possible, therefore, that building costs may decline still further, it is not probable that drastic declines will occur.

"The majority of the new building for contractors awarded have been for residential buildings, with considerable work being done on educational and public buildings. But during recent months, the building for industrial purposes has been a low increase in this field.

"Present tendencies indicate that the demand for new residential and public buildings will continue, and will be augmented by a slowly increasing demand for new business and industrial buildings. For the latter is not urgent, but slowly reviving business conditions are an incentive to existing equipment. It is not impossible that building costs may decline, but not likely in the near future. Given the existing conditions of the building trades at present, it is not probable that building costs will materially differ from those existing today."

The conclusion of the whole matter would seem to be that one is likely to incur little risk in planning to start building now.

In this connection it is perhaps worth noting that steel prices have begun to rise and that there have been authoritative intimations that more pronounced and general advance will be announced in the next month. Also, the general price level as measured by our recognized index numbers, has been on an advancing tendency during recent months.

On the other hand, rents are no longer rising and are fairly certain to decline only a little during the next two or three years.

My own opinion is that where wages in the building trades have been thoroughly maintained, the building can be embarked upon, and that where building trades wages are still below maintenance, the building will be profitable, and a while.

I cannot refrain from adding, however, that the building, and even of one's own house, is more than a matter of dollars and cents.

Low-Priced Issues Lead Curb

By Compustel News Service.
New York, March 31.—The New York Curb today was moderately active, with interest centered in low-priced issues, although attention was given to the daily market share which at times developed considerable activity.

There was a general feeling of uneasiness in the market, and a number of new issues were being introduced, and a number of old issues were being reissued.

TEST EDITOR'S ANSWERS TO QUERIES

"Cat Under Bush" That Both Readers Was Only a Smudge

By TEST EDITOR.

The Boston American, 1500 Famous Title Test approach the halfway point. Only a few weeks more and you will be sending in your set of sixty pictures, each with the title of your selection written below it.

Up to date, perhaps, you have written twenty-five correct titles.
This today, maybe, will add the twenty-seventh. Thirty-three days more and you will be sending in the complete set, in which the correct titles will be revealed and most interestingly discussed.

The Test Editor would be glad to say a word or two on the subject of the problem placed before you today, but, inasmuch as some are inclined to blame him for their errors at the close of the Test, feel that he would better be guided by the old copy book maxim, "Silence is golden."

Most of you, and especially the less experienced, have turned towards the Test Editor as that person who had New Bedford in his eye towards the crew. It was his habit, according to the story, to line the new hands up before him
at the beginning of the voyage.

"Now answer, all I want of you is nothing and nothing but the truth."
Polite answers to a few odd questions.

Dear Test Editor:
Your release of Drawing No. 15
does not correspond with the original. There appears to be the figure of a cat or other animal under the title. Please let me know which picture to go by.

Chas. S. FISK, N. C.
The cat or other animal is not being there. What you are only allowing is a smudge.

Dear Test Editor:
My wife and I are going to submit a set of pictures each with not quite clear whether under the rule each picture must have the title for each picture from No. 1
to No. 60. Suppose, for example, a picture of a cat or other animal is submitted for No. 1. Is this allowable? Certainly. It is B.

Dear Test Editor:
I have a question about the titles of the pictures. I have submitted a picture of a cat or other animal under the title of
"The Hills of New England."
Is this correct? No. C. D.

That title should read "The Hills
of New England."

Dear Test Editor:
In the copy of Drawing No. 15
I received last Saturday there is the outline of what appears to be a black cat near the title. In the
No. 15 picture in the paper
there was nothing of the kind.
Please inform me if the black cat is only a smudge or is meant for something?

Simon. A. M. C.
That black cat is a smudge.
Throw it out at once.

Dear Test Editor:
I have two copies of Drawing
No. 15, and in one of them, in the lower left corner, there is a smudge of black ink, in shape
like a cat, between the title stamp and the small square. In the other picture there is nothing of this "cat." Which is correct?

The cat is an interloper; probably came to one of the neighbors.
Please disregard it.

Senator Tells Delegation From Bay State He Favors Palestine Project

By Universal Service.

Washington, March 31.—A Jewish delegation from Massachusetts, accompanied by Speaker Gillet of the House, called upon Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and presented the resolution proposed recently by both Houses of the Massachusetts Legislature on the subject of the government of the United States of America, formally known as the Balfour Declaration, and declared his sympathy with the United States government in the delegation of the letter he had sent to the British government of Anglo in 1917, in which he said, "I should be glad to see action by the United States in line with the Balfour declaration. I feel that the United States should establish a national home in Palestine is not only natural, but in all ways to be desired."

The delegation also called on Vice-President Coolidge, former Governor of Massachusetts, in which it expressed its appreciation of the action of the Massachusetts Legislature in favor of the Balfour Declaration, and declared its sympathy with the United States government in the delegation of the letter he had sent to the British government of Anglo in 1917, in which he said, "I should be glad to see action by the United States in line with the Balfour declaration. I feel that the United States should establish a national home in Palestine is not only natural, but in all ways to be desired."
